

MAN THOUGHT DEAD APPEARS AT GRAVE

James Sweeney Amazes Mourners Who Are Grieving at His Death.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Bristol, Va., April 12.—In the midst of the solemn burial occasion, when members of the family were seeing lowered into the grave what they believed to be the body of their husband and father, James Sweeney, the man supposed to be dead, suddenly appeared upon the scene, to the utter amazement of the funeral party. This happened in the village of Timber Ridge, near Greenville, Tenn. Sweeney, who was a soldier of the Civil War, and in his old age an eccentric character, having last fall imagined himself a candidate for Congress in the First Tennessee District, canvassing as he did every county, disappeared from his home a few days ago.

The body of a man answering his description was found by the Southern Railway tracks, death having resulted either from murder or by being struck by a train. In a pocket of the dead man were found papers containing the name of Sweeney, and this, together with the marked resemblance of the body, led to a positive conclusion that it was his body.

The body was raised from the grave, and further examination led to the conclusion that it is that of a man named Mellenberg, who recently disappeared from his home at Morristown, Tenn.

Onancock, Va., April 12.—The marriage of Miss Mary Rich and Captain William Vernon King was solemnized at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. Newell R. Rich, this morning at 11 o'clock. The parlor and hall, which were darkened and lighted by candles, were beautifully decorated with roses and banks of cedar, potted plants and carnations. Miss Blanche Rich played the "Lohengrin" wedding march, and the bride, wearing a gown of white tulle and lace, and carrying a bouquet of roses, was escorted by the groom, who wore a tuxedo, to the altar by Rev. J. W. Stiff, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. The officiating of "Then You'll Remember Me" by the bridesmaids, Misses Nellie M. Bird, Margaret Powell, Elizabeth Kelley and Mary Douglas Wilkins, followed in white lingerie dresses, with white sashes, slippers and hair ribbons, held the ribbons in place. The bride wore a dark blue tailored gown, with a hand-embroidered black lace, and carried a bouquet of pink roses. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. After the ceremony Captain and Mrs. King left for a tour of the Northern cities. They will be at home after April 21 at 411 Duncan Avenue, Norfolk.

News of South Richmond

South Richmond Bureau,
The Times-Dispatch,
1829 Hull Street,
Phone Madison 175.

To celebrate the first anniversary of Manchester's consolidation with Richmond the old annexation committee of Manchester, which fought so persistently for the union that has proven so beneficial to the Southside, is preparing to gather Monday night and hold appropriate exercises.

Something in the nature of a love feast is proposed, with all the members of the old committee in attendance, and the idea is being hailed with the greatest enthusiasm by the consolidationists. The bitter feeling which marked the successful movement has been allayed to a great extent by the lapse of twelve months, but there are those who still grieve at the knowledge that Manchester is no more.

While the plans for the celebration are somewhat hazy, Augustine Royal, who was active in his efforts for annexation, stated yesterday that soon exercises would be held by the committee. It is presumed that at the meeting some resume of the benefits that have accrued to the Southside from the annexation will be enumerated. In the erection of a magnificent engine house, the enlargement of the fire department and police force, the enormous sum to be spent in the betterment of the Washington Ward streets, the new system of street lighting about to be installed and numerous other improvements voted by the City Council during the past year, the supporters of annexation see the consummation of their dreams.

Taken to America.
Pompey Bailey, a negro wanted in Amelia county on a warrant charging him with wife beating, was arrested yesterday morning by a member of the Washington Ward police force. The Amelia authorities were immediately notified and county officers took him back to the scene of his alleged crime yesterday afternoon.

Gilbert Turner, charged with trespassing on the property of F. V. Moxley, was fined $3.50 yesterday morning by Justice Maurice in the Police Court, Part 2.

In Hustings Court.
Judge Wells, of the Hustings Court, Part 2, has issued notice that all State and city liquor license taxes must be paid in at the Washington Ward tax office before April 19.

A meeting of the condemnation committee named by Judge Wells to open Decatur Street beyond the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad crossing has been called for Monday night at 8 o'clock.

In the courthouse to consider the evidence in the case.

Can Wipe Out Hookworm.
Little apprehension is entertained by the State Board of Health over the report of Dr. R. C. Carnal to the effect that a small percentage of the school children of Chesterfield county were found to be infected with the hookworm disease. Dr. Ennion Williams, head of the State Health Department, is quoted as saying that the infection in such a small percentage is nothing unusual or particularly to be dreaded, as the hookworm can doubtfully wipe out the disease in the schools without trouble.

Dr. Carnal will lecture on "The Hookworm and Health in General" in the Chester Agricultural High School on April 14. All citizens of the county are invited to attend. Among the deaths in Virginia from the hookworm ravages was one in Manchester, but the authorities do not regard the spread of the disease in the Southside as probable.

Woolridge-Jordan Wedding.
A marriage was solemnized Tuesday evening at the bride's home, 515 West Tenth Street, when Miss Mattie Lee Jordan became the bride of James W. Woolridge, of Woodland Heights.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Woolridge, Mr. and Mrs. George Dudley, Miss Mary R. Dunn, of South Boston, who is holding a ten-day revival meeting in the Stockton Street Baptist Church. A great many Southsiders are turning out nightly to hear the clover minister, and unusual interest is being evinced. The public will be welcome at these meetings which will be conducted nightly for the next week.

Mr. Webb will be assisted by some of the best known musical talent in the city.

Was From Chicago.
It is stated that Mrs. J. H. Crawley, formerly of Centerville, Chesterfield county, who was apprehended a few days ago at York, Pa., in company with her brother-in-law, Eugene Crawley, came to this section from Chicago. Her name before her marriage, it is understood, was Swallow.

CALMLY PREPARES TO END HIS LIFE

A. C. Hutchison, Prominent Cotton Mill Man, Commits Suicide.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Altavista, Va., April 12.—A. C. Hutchison, president and treasurer of the Altavista Cotton Mills, committed suicide here today about 11 o'clock in his office in the Price Building by shooting himself through the head. The cause for the deed is a deep mystery. He had just returned from the North, where he had disposed of a balance of $10,000 common stock in the local cotton mills, the building of which is in the course of construction. It was forced to abandon operations December 20, 1910.

Mr. Hutchison's office was situated in the same building and between that of Attorney Ernest Jones and Dr. H. E. Price. About 11 o'clock both the men named, as well as the wife of the latter, heard what seemed a muffled shot in the adjoining room, and two or three minutes later Mrs. Price went to the door of Mr. Jones' office and asked if he had heard a shot. The two investigated, and found Mr. Hutchison seated at his desk, his head sunk on his breast, and blood dripping from a wound in his right temple, forming a pool on the floor, in which a new .32 calibre revolver lay. Death had been instantaneous, for the body had not moved from the natural position assumed before the shot. The bullet passed through the head and struck the wall at a height of about nine feet, dropping back to the floor.

The dead man had written to his wife, desiring her to "My Dear Wife: I did not write you yesterday, and trust—He completed the third attempt, and sealed and stamped the letter. Mrs. A. C. Hutchison, Charlotte, N. C.

The dead man's desk had been put in most scrupulous order, and just before the deed he had pulled down the top of the desk, locked it, took off his glasses, held them to the narrow edge of the desk, then with his right elbow on the arm of the chair and with his head leaning to the right, the revolver was placed against the temple for the flesh was powder-burned, and he calmly sent his soul into eternity.

Mr. Hutchison came here from Charlotte, N. C., during the latter part of last year, and organized a stock company to operate a cotton mill to manufacture fine fabrics. The capital stock was $300,000. An immense brick building was soon gotten under way, but suddenly operation ceased for lack of funds. This was in December. Since that time Mr. Hutchison has been in the North and East selling stock. He came back last week and reported the closing out entirely of the common stock, and promised the resumption of operations on the mill building.

COMMISSIONER'S SALE OF

VERY DESIRABLE AND VALUABLE REAL ESTATE IN CHESTERFIELD COUNTY, VA., ONE HALF MILE FROM THE BEAUTIFUL VILLAGE OF BON AIR, BEING THE ESTATE OF CAPTAIN HUGH LONGEST, DECEASED.

In execution of decree of the Circuit Court for Chesterfield county, pronounced at its May term, 1910, in the suit of Ama S. Moody vs. John J. Longest and als., I will offer for sale by public auction, in front of the courthouse in South Richmond, formerly Manchester, Va.,

SATURDAY, APRIL 22, 1911, at 11 o'clock A. M.,

that very desirable and valuable land of which Captain Hugh Longest died seized and possessed, containing 53.79 acres, by recent survey, situated in Chesterfield county, Va., about half a mile west of Bon Air, south of the Bon Air road, and adjoining the land of Air Road, and adjoining the land of Mrs. Ama S. Moody, W. W. Anderson, H. W. Anderson and others.

This land lies in a healthy and beautiful section; it has been subdivided into parcels of convenient size, ranging from .25 to about 50 acres each, with a convenient outlet to and along public roads, and is unusually attractive for homes with sufficient land.

The sale will be in parcels. Land in this portion of the county is rapidly increasing in value, and is very near the beautiful country homes of many of Richmond's most prominent business men, and should be particularly attractive to those who wish to live in the country, and near to the city and railroad. It is charmingly situated, high, dry and perfectly healthy, as Chesterfield county is famed the world over for the great purity of its water.

The land is cleared, and only a small part of the land is cleared. For more and further information, call on the auctioneers.

TERMS: One-fourth of the purchase money cash; balance payable in one and two years, equal instalments, with interest; purchaser to give bonds or notes for credit payments. Title retained until all purchase money is paid, and purchase money to be paid in cash. Sale subject to confirmation of the court. Map can be seen at office of A. Royal & Co.
